Carrick Tourism Project

Heritage Hubs / Carrick Characters

Carrick Community Council Forum is leading the Carrick Tourism Project to promote tourism in 17 towns and villages in Carrick. Details can be found at www.carrickayrshire.com.

This part of the Tourism Development project will:

1. Work with people and groups in all 17 Carrick communities to identify local icons that could be promoted. These could be cultural, historical or natural "icons" that are significant to each of the communities and could be people, place, animal etc.
2. Communities will work with the project team to design a suitable installation within the village area. A budget of up to £3,000 is available to spend in each community
3. The community will also help to identify local sites
4. The project will then help to secure planning approvals, etc and oversee installation of artworks and interpretation in public spaces in the 17 communities creating focal points for local people and for visitors.
5. The project will also want to develop trails and other activities such as geo caching at some or all of these sites to enable visitors (and locals) to move between them and create vibrancy and economic benefit throughout Carrick
6. Explore the potential to augment local icons with a large scale Carrick Icon
7. Market these icons and use them as part of the draw to Carrick for visitors and people touring Scotland

Pinwherry and Pinmore have a stronghold of red squirrels around Breaker and Glesel Hills and have chosen the red squirrel as our icon. Look out for information squirrels popping up on fence posts and banners of information on the lay by notice boards.

CARRICK COMMUNITY HERITAGE TRAIL PINMORE & PINWHERRY

This area is home to a large colony of endangered red squirrels. Only 120,000 red squirrels remain in Scotland plus about 3,000 in Wales and 10,000 in England. Great Britain has 2.5 million grey squirrels.

Several places like the one pictured here are treated as 'parks' around our village reminding you to keep a look out for red squirrels and giving you a few facts about them.

Red squirrels can tell great tales from their own lives including what they eat, how they live, and what they are up to. They are also very smart and can be trained to do many things. They are also very friendly and love to be petted. They are also very curious and love to be around people. They are also very brave and will stand up to their enemies. They are also very hardy and can survive in the harshest of conditions. They are also very resilient and can bounce back from adversity. They are also very adaptable and can thrive in a variety of environments. They are also very intelligent and can learn from their mistakes. They are also very social and love to be around their family and friends. They are also very loyal and will stick with you through thick and thin. They are also very honest and will tell you the truth. They are also very kind and will help you when you are in need. They are also very generous and will share with you. They are also very helpful and will do anything for you. They are also very brave and will stand up to their enemies. They are also very hardy and can survive in the harshest of conditions. Community Council News

Community Councils are the most local tier of statutory representation in Scotland. They are non-party political. They bridge the gap between local authorities and communities, and help to make public bodies aware of the opinions and needs of the communities they represent. Their primary purpose is to ascertain and express the views of the community to the local authority and other public bodies. Many Community Councils also involve themselves in a wide range of other activities including fundraising, organising community events, undertaking environmental and educational projects and much more. There are currently around 1200 Community Councils in Scotland, all of which are composed of elected volunteers from the community. For more information go to the Scottish Government website www.scotland.gov.uk or the South Ayrshire Council website www.south-ayrshire.gov.uk.

Benefits Changes Booklet

The South Ayrshire Council has produced a very good booklet explaining the benefits changes in clear and understandable language. It is called "Benefits Changes Directory" and can be downloaded from their website at: <http://www.south-ayrshire.gov.uk/benefitchanges/benefits%20changes%20directory.pdf>

The introduction says: "The Department for Work and Pensions (DWP) is making big changes to benefits from April this year that will affect South Ayrshire residents, mainly those who are 'working age' - born after 5 October 1951 - and are on benefits, or claim benefits from time to time."

Printed copies of the booklet are in limited supply but may be available from the Girvan Customer Services Centre at 17-19 Knockcushan Street (open 8.45am - 4.45pm Monday to Thursday, 8.45am - 4.00pm on Friday). A copy is available to read in the BCC folder at Ballantrae Surgery, who also has limited copies for distribution.

PROPOSED LOCAL DEVELOPMENT PLAN GOES AHEAD UNCHANGED

The following letter has been circulated by Ms. Cheryl Downie, Communications Officer of South Ayrshire Council:

"Proposed local development plan: Councillors have taken a decision to submit their South Ayrshire Proposed Local Development Plan to Scottish Ministers. The plan will be significant in driving economic growth and once approved by Scottish Ministers the plan will provide for a range of development opportunities throughout South Ayrshire.

Councillor Bill Grant, Tourism, Leisure and Economic Development Portfolio Holder said: The Plan was built on significant engagement with local communities and approved last year by Council. During the autumn of 2012, representations were invited from the community and interested persons and 881 responses were received.

There then followed a significant amount of work comparing the responses against the evidence for the Plan to ensure that there was no reason to modify it. I am very pleased to say that the Proposed South Ayrshire Local Plan is one of the first such Plans in Scotland to reach this key milestone.

The Plan will now be submitted to Scottish Ministers and the Plan will be examined by a Government appointed Reporter. Any person or community that has ongoing objection to the Plan will have full opportunity to have their object considered by the Reporter.

After the examination is carried out we will have to include any changes to the Plan required by the Reporter. And then seek approval at a future Council meeting to adopt the Plan.

It is anticipated that any new Plan would be adopted early in 2014." Proposed local development plan can be found at: <http://www.south-ayrshire.gov.uk/planning/planlpdocuments.aspx>

AN INDEPENDENT VIEW

"Ne'er Cast a Clout Till May's Oot" so the old saying goes. This year it certainly rings true with weeks of bitterly cold east winds and whilst we have had sunny days, high temperatures have been few and far between. Talking of high temperatures, we have had a few in the wake of the Tralorg Windfarm Planning Application. Should Community Councils engage with developers or not, should it be Planning Regulation Pan 47 or Pan 3/2010, hopefully all will become clear and the process can get back to normal because it is the process which has been shown to be flawed and not the outcome. Whether you support or object to planning developments, clarity is always essential.

It was good to see A Special Roads Meeting with Key Stakeholders being hosted in Pinwherry by Pinmore and Pinwherry CC. This gave a chance for concerns to be raised not only about the condition of the A714 but also to try and mitigate the risk of future types of use of this route making road conditions even worse for those who live in the area and hampering the development of tourism which is so important. That is why it was encouraging to see potential heavy road users such as Forestry and Windfarm Developers sharing a platform for discussion along with other agencies such as the Police Scotland and Local authorities as well as Community Councils, Saylsa and Local Development and Enterprise Company, Ailsa Horizons. As a local Councillor I will monitor this closely and work in tandem with Community Councils.

At the Full South Ayrshire Council meeting in late April the Local Development Plan was passed by majority but not without a turbulent passage. The LDP is a set of documents that sets out the way ahead for the next ten years for housing, leisure, windfarm development, and many other planning issues. One of the developments in the plan was BAL1 at Ballantrae which is for housing and was overwhelmingly rejected by a majority of Ballantrae residents through petition, individual objections and at a public meeting, with Ballantrae CC withdrawing support for the development. As the local Councillor who attended Ballantrae meetings in this period, I put forward an amendment to the motion asking that the Ballantrae development be excluded. The original motion was passed and with it, the inclusion of the Ballantrae Development. The plan will now go to Scottish Ministers and the only recourse will be through the reporter who may or may not take up communication with those who objected. We will monitor this as it goes along and seek clarity from SAC Planners.

It is nice to finish in the knowledge that the light nights are with us and summer is on its way. Fingers crossed that we have some of the warmth that has eluded us so far and instead of cold easterlies and snow flurries we have balmy temperatures and barbeques. Just the type of conditions to suit the farmers among us and the tourists who wish to be among us.

Councillor Alec Clark (Independent)
South Ayrshire Council, Ward 8, Girvan and South Carrick.

Ballantrae Church Linked With St Colmon Church

The summer is full of Fun Days, Galas, Church Fairs (see below), and this year Ballantrae are having their first Smugglers Festival. On a website about smuggling in this area it states that "Ballantrae was at one time the centre for a vast smuggling ring, and the local fishermen helped land and conceal the cargoes of brandy, tea and tobacco."

We often connect smuggling with alcohol and drugs, and occasionally we hear in the news of people being arrested for trying to conceal drugs as they enter this or another country. However in some parts of the world, people do all they can to smuggle Bibles into their country. To us, who can buy a Bible from our local book shop, this may seem strange, but in some countries the Bible is a banned book which Christians risk being arrested, just to get their hands on a Bible.

Smuggling of Bibles is not just something that happens in other countries, because in the 1500s, Bibles in English had to be smuggled into this country wrapped in bales of cloth. This was because the church authorities had decreed that Bibles needed to remain in Latin, which only the priests could read. People were so keen to get a Bible in English that translators such as William Tyndale, translated it, had it printed in Germany and then smuggled it back into this country.

Christians believe that the Bible is valuable because it contains God's words to his people. Words that bring us hope, words that help us with every difficulty we face and words that give us guidance throughout our lives. Throughout the world where people read and believe the words, they continue to transform the lives of people. That is why Bibles are treasured and why still they are smuggled into countries, especially the closed areas of our world.

I hope you have a good summer, and know God's blessing, Stephen.

St Colmon Kirk Hall

Building work began on 26th March and many thanks go to those who turned up every day of the previous week and worked so hard trundling barrow loads and furniture from the hall to the Church. Hence the black draped heaps in the Church!

Numerous meetings have been held to discuss every detail of the building from its layout, materials, doors and windows to colour schemes, kitchen appliances, toilet fittings, heating and lighting. Nothing is being wasted as scrap metal and old fittings have been sold, people have benefited from fire wood and some items have gone to BRICC. Work is expected to finish at the end of May with a re-opening to be arranged.

St Colmon Church Windows

Anyone who visits the Church in Colmonell can't fail to admire the beautiful stained glass windows, but recently we had some distinguished visitors who had heard that "the windows by Louis Davis at Colmonell Church are renowned as some of the finest of their era". These are the three windows over the pulpit, the Nativity window and the two small windows in the porch which were installed in 1910 -1920.

Peter Cormack MBE FSA is a stained glass historian, currently researching and writing a book about British stained glass in the early 20th century. Peter travelled from London with the Chairman of the British Society of Master Glass-Painters and the Editor of The Journal of Stained Glass, all of whom were very impressed with the windows.

Peter took many photographs and when he finishes his book we will have much more information about the windows and how they came to be installed in St Colmon Church. (See photographs on back page)

The King's Arms Hotel, Ballantrae, has a very full programme of events throughout the year.

Following a very successful Karaoke competition with prizes on Saturday 13th April, we have held a second one on 18th May.

We also hosted a pool competition on Saturday 4th May, with prizes, and a raffle with proceeds going to a local girl, Lily Woodhouse, who is raising money so that she can go to Uganda and teach. There will be other events in aid of her cause throughout the coming months.

We would like to say a massive thank you to DJ Garry Thomson, who has helped make the Karaoke such a success, and to Allan McCurdy for helping to organise the pool competition.

There is always a warm welcome and plenty happening at the King's Arms Hotel, Ballantrae.

The 2 Pins Community Centre

The 2 Pins Centre project is progressing with negotiations underway to purchase the site in the centre of Pinwherry. Surveyors are currently carrying out a topographical survey and soil testing to make certain that the site is suitable for the proposed building.

The 2 Pins directors and members have been carrying out visits to other community facilities to learn what problems could arise, what worked and what did not work. From the public consultations a wish list was developed and residents met with the appointed architect and discussed the possible centre layout.

The architects are now working with the board on the final draft plans. These will be submitted to South Ayrshire Council planning department for outline planning approval allowing us to complete the purchase of the site later this year. Applications have been made to funders for the site purchase.

We propose that The 2 Pins Centre will incorporate a central hub for displaying local history, arts and crafts, a sports/meeting hall, changing facilities, café, shop, community meeting rooms, offices, children's play area, all with full disabled access and ample car parking. Outside we hope to have a MUGA (multi use games area) with an all-weather surface.

The 2 Pins Community Company is a Company Limited by Guarantee and a Registered Charity. We currently have 42 members from both Pinwherry and Pinmore and from these we have a board of 7 directors. It is important that we prove to potential funders that the whole community is behind the project, so we are still looking to increase company members.

The board and members meet every 2nd Thursday at 7.30pm in Pinwherry hall, please come along and support us and find out the progress of the project.

It's important the community starts fund raising. A discussion about this will be led by the Pinwherry Community Association on May 23rd at 7.30pm in Pinwherry Hall. Come along and help any way you can.

Pinwherry School Project

Pinwherry and Pinmore Community Council have proposed that the Pinwherry Primary School be converted into a Hostel and Bunkhouse. Community Council engaged an external tourism expert who produced a report on the potential use and need for this type of facility in Carrick. The study has indicated that there is a demand for this type of accommodation in South Carrick which will assist in encouraging walkers/cyclists/visitors to stay longer in the area.

From this P & P Community Council approached South Ayrshire Council with the idea of passing the School buildings over to the community for the Hostel/bunkhouse, in principle the Council have agreed subject to a detailed business plan.

Funding has been approved to engage external Architects, Surveys, Accountants, and Marketing experts to draw up a detailed costing's, and Business and marketing plan.

Local Hills

Craig Hill and Breaker Hill lie between two areas which have been designated Special Areas of Conservation under the EU Directive on the Conservation of Natural Habitats and of Wild Fauna and Flora (Knockdaw Hill and Aldons Hill - part of the Lendalfoot Hills Complex).

Craig Hill lies on part of the Knockdaw Hill and Knockormal Hill Provisional Wildlife Site and shares many of the upland habitats of the adjoining SSSI's - Calcium-rich springwater-fed fens, dry heath, species rich grassland, very wet mires, and wet heathland with cross-leaved heath.

On the SSSI's and surrounding hills can be found Bog Asphodel, Grass of Parnassus, Heath-spotted Orchids, Wild Thyme, Common Milkwort, Harebells and Lady's Bedstraw. (See page two)

Breaker Hill consists mainly of spruce and larch plantation (including a small loch) which supports good numbers of red squirrels, badgers, and both red and roe deer. The red squirrel has UK Biodiversity Action Plan Priority Species status, and is a protected species under the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981.

Alec Oattes

"As a local Councillor I receive invitations to all sorts of events, briefings and launches of projects, many of which, time permitting, I am happy to attend.

Amongst recent briefings has been one concerned with Child Safety and Development this is called GIRFEC "Getting it right for every child" this is a method of looking after children at each stage of their life from birth until they reach the age of 18. This in practice means that every child has a named person, from health or education, who looks after the welfare of every child, in addition to the parents or guardians and is one of the many unheralded services provided by taxation, but which most people are unaware of. This service encourages all children to be Safe, Healthy, Achieving, Nourished, Active, Respected, Responsible and Included, otherwise known as SHANARRI! I understand the perception that councils only lift the bins and a few other things, but there are a whole range of statutory services provided by Local Authorities which serve the community from the cradle to the grave and is also the level of public service nearest to the people.

A recent launch was the "DisabledGo" service which provides information and help for people with disabilities, which South Ayrshire Council has just recently signed up to. This web site can be accessed at [www.disabledgo.com] and provides online access guides to over 100,000. venues across the U.K. it is free to use and you do not need to register, this provides information for all kinds of places, cinemas, hotels, restaurants, parks and tourist attractions. There are many other user friendly locations and services which are being added to continually and I would urge anyone with a disability to log on and find out what is on offer.

Another launch occurred on the 18th. of April at Marr College in Troon, this was "National Stalking Awareness Day" which was launched by Ann Moulds who was a victim of Stalking for 3 years. The Campaign has been developed by the Glasgow Violence Against Women Partnership, to help highlight and inform the general public of what stalking is, what to do about it and how to access help and support. Stalking has been a criminal offence since 2010 and there is a helpline number on 0808 802 0300 or by going on line at [www.stalkinghelpline.org]

Lastly I was able to attend a Seminar in Edinburgh at no cost to the Council Tax Payer (using my elderly travel concession card!) The Mayors for Peace Nuclear Free Local Authorities event, this seminar was addressed among others by Matt Robson Former New Zealand Minister for Disarmament & Arms Control, Mr Tadatoshi Akiba the former Mayor of Hiroshima. There was an interesting discussion on how New Zealand became a Nuclear Free Country, there was also a debate on how small communities, local authorities and even Nations can declare themselves Nuclear Free, which in the longer term could lead to a reduction in the Number of Nuclear weapons in the world. I imagine this all sounds a bit idealistic to some, but the cost of replacing a second generation of Trident Submarines in a debt ridden country, will according to Greenpeace, amount to £100 Billion over 30 years, it all seems pretty stupid to me. Further information can be obtained at [www.nuclearpolicy.info] I trust this column shows that there is more going on within a Councillors role than simply attending Council Meetings.

Yours sincerely,

Councillor Alec Oattes,

Meikle Shalloch or Shallochwell

Shallochwell is located in the Parish of Barr and previous occupants and their children had to walk to Barr to attend the Kirk and School. It sits at the top of the Muck Water glen at the watershed between the rivers Stinchar and the Cree and commands wonderful views of the Merricks and large tracts of Galloway.

Avril Maver acquired Shallochwell in 1980 and lived there until her death in 2009. Initially, she bought it as a 6 acre island surrounded by the Forestry Commission (FC) in order to have grazing for her two ponies Lulu and Muffin. She persuaded the FC to sell 5 acres and then a further 7 acres to secure the water supply, the septic tank and the wonderful sheep pens that she transformed into an amazing garden for wildlife. Avril willed Shallochwell to her two daughters - Justine and Esme. Esme is well known as the Farrier in the 50 mile radius of Shallochwell and currently looks after her Clydesdale Amber, two half-Highland ponies and Neddy the donkey.

2. A section of the 1664 map of Johan Blau, based on the surveys of the Rev Timothy Pont. I have this and a number of maps of the area from a variety of later dates. (Front page)
3. I have tried to piece together the chronology of the ownership/tenancy of Shallochwell. Maybe your readership could provide additional information?
4. Sometime between 1800 and 1850, the name changed from Meikle Shalloch to Shallochwell; this seems to be to reflect the importance of the Chalybeate 3/4 of a mile South-East of the house. One of the images is an extract from the 1790 Statistical Account of Scotland of the mineral and healing properties of the Well.
5. The last image is of Shallochwell as it currently is. (Front page)

Antiquities

Extract from 'Statistical Account of Scotland - Vol VI, Ayrshire 1790s:

This parish, being hilly, abounds with springs of fine water - many of them mineral. Shalloch Well deservedly has pre-eminence. It is a pretty strong chalybeate and partakes of sulpher also to no inconsiderable degree. About 30 years ago (i.e. 1760s) people of rank and fashion in Carrick and neighbourhood attended this well, but this is not the case at present. The waters have been rarely known to fail in giving relief to persons afflicted with stomachic or scorbutic disorders. The reason why this water is in a great measure deserted, is the want of proper accomodation at the well.

Wood Pellet Warning

SAFETY chiefs have issued warnings over boiler fuel which has caused nine deaths by carbon monoxide poisoning.

The Health and Safety Executive (HSE) has issued a warning over wood pellets, which are often used to fire boilers in homes or schools as an alternative to gas. Scottish councils now say they are taking precautions with the storage of wood pellets, and the Scottish Government has said.

A pregnant 28-year-old Swiss woman is among the people to have died as a result of carbon monoxide poisoning from the pellets, which release the toxic gas if not stored properly.

Monoxide

With prices for gas and oil soaring, using wood pellets made from compressed sawdust and off-cuttings as fuel have been growing.

But when stored in hot, enclosed spaces, the HSE says some pellets can produce potentially lethal amounts of carbon monoxide due to chemical reactions in the wood. The HSE said: "Since 2002 there have been at least nine fatalities in Europe caused by carbon monoxide poisoning following entry into wood pellet storage areas."

"Although there have not been any incidents so far in the UK the use of wood pellets is increasing and awareness of this danger is required.

"Wood pellet boilers are used in homes and businesses as an alternative to oil or gas fired boilers.

"They are also being installed to replace coal-fired boilers, particularly in schools."

Hospital

In 2011, the wife of a Swiss caretaker entered a room containing the pellets for 60 households on his behalf, and later died from carbon monoxide poisoning.

In November 2010 a 38-year-old Irish man died after entering the seven tonne wood pellet storage room for his boiler. His wife and another man were taken to hospital after trying to pull him to safety.

The HSE recommends keeping the pellets in well-ventilated areas with signs warning people of the danger of entering them. Amid a raft of other safety measures, they say no one should enter storage tanks for the pellets unless fully trained.

Four deaths were as a result of entering wood pellet storage rooms on ships.

Risk

Scottish Government spokesperson said: "There have not been any incidents in the UK. However the use of wood pellets is increasing and we would urge all those who use, install, maintain or distribute wood pellet boilers and/or manufacture / store / distribute wood pellets to heed the advice of the Health and Safety Executive when storing wood pellets."

GOING ON HOLIDAY?

You've packed your suitcase, remembered the Factor 30, cancelled the newspapers. You're all prepared. Or are you?

What about protecting your home from fire when you're away?

Here are some handy tips to think about before you leave

- Switch off and unplug unnecessary equipment.
- Turn the water off at the mains. Water from a leaking pipe could short out electrical wiring and cause a fire.
- Close down the gas supply at the mains unless you have appliances which need to be left on.
- Let a neighbour know you are going away and leave a key with them.
- Close all doors and windows, so that if fire breaks out its spread will be slowed down.
- Check your smoke alarm is working order before you go.

A Summer Poem!

In the Winter edition Elma Kirkwood of Ballantrae told us she had been clearing out old recipes when she found a poem she had written 30 years ago. We printed that poem. This one was on the other side of the piece of paper.....

A Summer Poem!

By Elma Kirkwood

*Is British Summer Time a joke?
Has the sun gone up in smoke?
I sit here in the pouring rain
Arthritis causing me great pain.*

*Each day I see a big black cloud
And mutter to myself out loud
Why here - and not in Spain
Do we get all the bloody rain?*

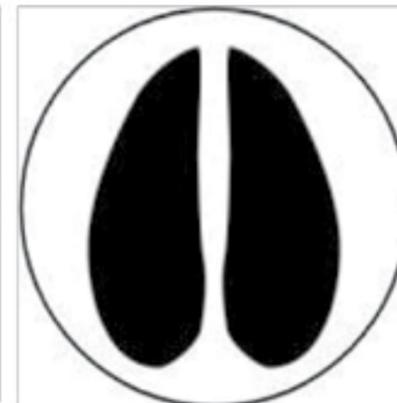

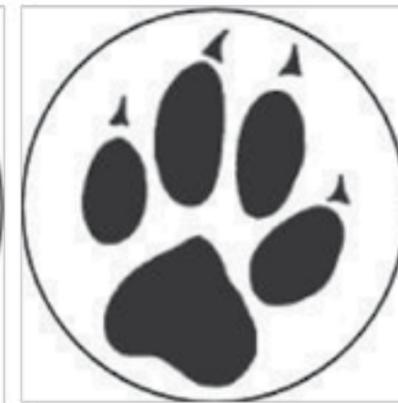

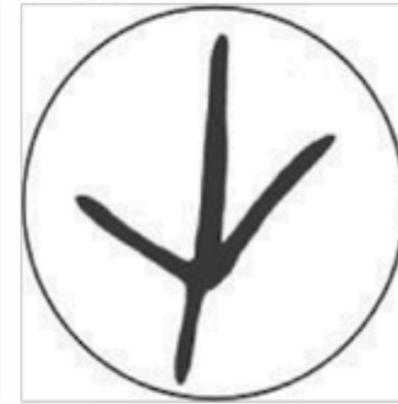

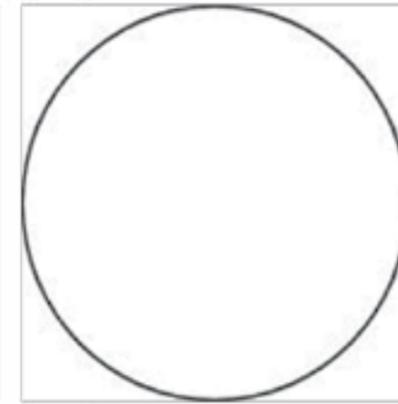

*My grass is long and needing cut
But my mower in a rut is stuck
To cut it would be very risky
So I've taken to drinking water and whisky*

*My attitude has changed since drinking
It's dulled my pessimistic thinking
Instead of feeling any pain
I say to God - bring on the rain!*

Girvan Coastal Rowing

Rhona Anderson

On an impulse, and since the tide times are right, we drive out to Maidens to see if the Carrick Maid is being launched today. Bingo! We spy two 4x4 vehicles parked alongside the sea-wall at the harbour, one of them towing a pretty white and blue boat behind. It's the Carrick Maid, a St Ayles skiff: a lightweight wooden boat, kitted out with 4 single oars (two per side), especially designed to be fast in the water.

Girvan is the latest community to be caught up in the coastal rowing craze which is sweeping round the coastline of Scotland like a supernatural cyclone, enticing all in its path to take up their paddles and row. Beginning in Anstruther, Fife, in 2010, communities and schools throughout the country have been buying the plans and the ready-made kits to create their very own St Ayles 'skiffies' so that they too can compete against their rowing rivals. More than 40 boats have been built since 2010, with fierce competition between neighbouring teams, such as Pittenweem versus Anstruther; Troon versus Cumbrae and soon, with the launch of Girvan's newly-built skiff on Friday June 21st 2013, it will be Girvan versus Carrick (Maybole). All teams are encouraged to enter this year's St Ayles Skiff World Championships from 8th-14th July 2013 at Ullapool.

Back at Maidens Harbour, where the sea is splashing up and over the breakwater, I am invited by the organisers to 'have a go' at rowing with the three others in the team. On the coxswain's command "One!" we dip the oars in and pull back. I am operating one oar at the 'stroke' side of the boat. Incidentally, 'stroke' is not, as I first thought, a reference to the health risk of rowing without proper training! 'Stroke' is a command to rowers on one side: the opposite side respond to the command, "bow".

Our skiff speeds lightly over the gentle waves in the harbour. The cox steers a course past the buoys using his wooden rudder at the stern. "Stroke lift! Bow paddle!" This command turns us out of the quiet harbour into the open sea. And we're lifted high on a huge wave, front paddles failing to connect with the water until the bow rides over the crest of the wave.

A few minutes of rowing over the heads of white horses is enough exhilaration for me, so it's with relief we change direction and head for the safe haven behind Maidens breakwater. My unexpected Thursday adventure really fires my interest.

Coastal rowing is great team fun enjoyed by all: from young adults to veterans both women and men participate in the rowing teams. Strength is not as important as effective team-work, so the seniors' team might easily beat the young crew who have yet to learn the value of co-operation. Girvan Coastal Rowing Club is on the lookout for members, so if you're interested, then contact Allan Rattray at Girvan Academy on 01465 716816 or email Girvan.Mail@south-ayrshire.gov.uk.

Breast Way Round

On Friday 24th May around 150 bikers, primarily women all wearing bright pink hi-viz vests and mo-hawks on their helmet, joined by a few men, will have set off on their 3 day 450 mile run round the West Coast of Scotland to raise money for MacMillan Cancer Support. Okay so it's not a marathon or a coffee morning, but the end achieves the same goal, to raise money for breast cancer. All of us at some point in our lives will have known someone with breast or one of the other cancers, many survive but sadly far too many don't. My personal experience is with my cousin Lee, who fortunately won the battle and is still here to be my cousin. Breast Way Round's first was in 2008 and at the end of this years' run will have clocked up a staggering 270,000 miles. The current fund raising total is £212,000 with a target of £250,000 to reach.

The run set off at Kilmarnock Rugby Park at 10.30am, through Gourock, Dunoon, Inverary, Oban, Fort William, Drumadrochit, Fort Augustus, Inverness, Aviemore, finally arriving at Loch Lomond at 12.30pm on Sunday 26th May.

Each rider is placed in a small group which matches their riding ability, with a leader and a back marker. Lunchtime stops are long enough to strengthen budding friendships, share experiences and pleasures of the run and the team makes sure that everyone is okay and enjoying the run. Oban is the first nights stop and from there on the pace quickens as each member settles. The last part of the run is down the side of Loch Lomond and we are honoured by a Police escort. There we release memory balloons over the loch.

It's hard to describe how rewarding and satisfying it is to be taking part in BWR. All accommodation, food and fuel cost is funded by myself and every donation and sponsor money collected goes directly to BWR.

We could not do this run without the huge support from family, friends, sponsors and the general public. If anyone would like to donate to Breast Way Round they can follow the link on my Just Giving page: www.justgiving.com/lyndorrington or www.justgiving.com/BWR2013 Lyn Dorrington Thank you.

How Will We Remember Them?

As probably everyone knows, it will be the centenary of the beginning of WW1 next year.

A couple of us have had an idea of how to remember those who took part in this war and we would like to know if anyone else would be interested in getting involved.

The idea is that we would research as much as we could about those who died in the war from our villages - where they lived, what they did, what their war was like, how they died, etc., as well as finding out about those who lived through the war and those who played their part at home. We could also find out what our communities would have been like 100 years ago, and what life was like then. We would then put together small exhibitions in our village halls and have some afternoons open to the public - possibly serving refreshments? Inviting local schools to join in, getting them involved in the research and in putting it on.

This is only the germ of an idea at present. If anyone is interested in pursuing it, contact Judy on 01465 881236 or at judybrzezinka@hotmail.com, and we'll try and get a group together.

The Road Show was designed to provide older people with information that could be useful for them in respect of the various services that are provided by the different agencies - e.g. - housing; benefits; access to information for those with various disabilities; universal benefits; and much more.

The programme included: - Tea & Coffee, reminiscent music and singing; alternative therapies; food and drink; and much more.

Entrance was free and a total of 25 different organisations were represented. Over 70 people visited the show, many staying over two hours enjoying the information, food and entertainment.

Unfortunately, despite contacting local cafes & tea rooms and Community Councils seeking their support since September last year, requests for posters to be displayed and contacts with older people to be made who may require transport did not happen. There would no doubt have been older people in attendance if this support had been forthcoming.

On the Tuesday & Wednesday of this week and on the day of the event, young people from the Girvan Youth Forum "And Beyond" carried out a local survey on our behalf which will eventually be analysed and the results brought back to Girvan through a public meeting with the expectation of local politicians in attendance.

The second Road Show was at the end of May in Maybole. (After this publication went to press). Les Anderson (Chair at SASF)

Windfarms & New Planning Guidance

I'm sure it won't have escaped the attention of the growing number of local people looking for improvements in the planning system, that the Scottish Government have made some significant announcements in the last few months. These come on the back of the launch of a consultation on a new National Planning Framework and a Draft Scottish Planning Policy which aims to improve the performance of the planning system to secure jobs and economic benefits whilst enhancing environmental protection for the 31% of Scotland classified as the wildest and most scenic land. Additionally the Scottish Government has proposed increasing the separation distance between windfarms and towns and villages.

I was struck by the response to this breaking news from Cameron McNeish a well-known writer, broadcaster and mountain walker "as far as I'm aware no European Government has put an outright ban on wind turbines on particular areas of their country that are seen as nationally important in terms of landscape quality, the much criticised Scottish Government could well be the first to do so. I personally believe these proposals represent a huge step forward in safeguarding our finest natural assets, a bold statement in this year of natural Scotland."

I hope that interested readers will take the opportunity to participate in the consultation process. Copies of the consultation and associated supporting documentation can be found at: <http://www.scotland.gov.uk/Topics/Built-Environment/planning/NPF3-SPP-Review>

A series of public events will be held around the country in coming months, giving people the chance to have their say on the proposed changes. It is expected that following consultation, the SPP will be finalised by the end of 2013, with NPF3 being adopted by 2014.

Many thanks

Adam

Keep Your Eyes Peeled For The Smugglers!

Scarecrows, Vikings, wicker men, lanterns, beer, theatre and music – there are many themes on which to base a festival, but the Ballantrae Development Group (BDG) intends to draw on the village's notorious past with a "Smugglers Festival" in 2013.

Planning is currently underway for a series of events on the history and stories of smugglers in Ballantrae and South Carrick. A "Smugglers Festival" to be held during the period 21-24 August (avoiding any clash with July's Gala Week), will be built on the idea of "Scarecrow Festivals" run in this country and abroad. But this one will have "The Smugglers" as its theme.

Over the 4 day period, there will be a mix of events to appeal to children; adults and children together; and adults on their own. The events will attract Ballantrae folk, people from surrounding villages and tourists. Some events will be held during the day and some will be held in the evening. A story will unfold during the week encouraging people to become involved in more than one event.

During the week of the event, scarecrows dressed as "Smugglers" will start to appear around the village – in windows, behind wheelie bins – in all sorts of places, and a character in costume will help the children – sworn in as members of the local Militia – to spot as many of them as possible. Wanted posters will be produced. Following an interactive "Court of Justice", smugglers who have been captured (re-enactors in costume) will be tried and punished for their crimes during a "Fun Day" with lots of activities, competitions and refreshments – all with a smuggling theme. The four day event will be brought to a climax with "Folk at the Smugglers Arms" – an evening of folk music.

Watch local press and local noticeboards for details in the run up to the event and keep your eyes peeled for the smugglers in Ballantrae during 21-24 August!

Ballantrae
Scouts

Unfortunately the weather was not brilliant for flying Kites at our Kite fest but we did manage to get some kites flying which created a lot of interest so we intend to get the Kites out soon and see if we can get them all flying at one time. The Cubs and Beavers have been very busy since Christmas; the Cubs have again won the Margaret McCluskie Shield. This year the competition was held at Girvan Scout Hall and the Cubs had to make a bridge using newspaper and sticky tape. The winning group's bridge (Ballantrae) was tested by supporting a weight and by being the best design. Both Cubs and Beavers have received their Scientist and Fitness badges.

Unfortunately we have had to introduce a waiting list for new beavers as we can only have six Beavers to each leader. So please can someone volunteer????

Scouts have been active; we made an igloo and had two nights sledging. We have been canoeing and mountain biking and are looking forward to camping with the Cubs on 18th May week end. The Beavers will visit on the Saturday. (Pictures on inside rear page)

Have you ever been a Scout or a Guide? If so, Ballantrae Scouts would like to hear from you. The Group Executive Committee, comprising parents and members of the local community is establishing a support group called "Friends of Ballantrae Scouts". It will cost you nothing to join but occasionally we may ask you to help us with fundraising or share your skills with us for the Beaver, Cub or Scout programme. For example we already have someone who takes pictures of events, someone who bakes, someone who was a Secretary who takes notes of meetings, and someone who makes kites! Come and join us and help us give today's youngsters a taste of the fun and adventure you had when you were young! People wanting to join do not need to have been in Scouts before. Stinchar Valley Pipers

Stinchar Valley Pipers was started in 2010 by Billy McCubbin from Colmonell, with the intention of forming a group to play at local galas and events. Starting from scratch with no pipers or equipment, a lot of hard work has gone into teaching, learning and raising funds to buy chanters, bagpipes and uniforms. Apart from the groups own fundraising efforts, they have been fortunate to receive Community Grants from wind farm funds.

This year so far the group has been asked to play at Kirkhill Gardens open day, Colmonell Fun Day and Barrhill Gala.

Chanter classes are on Monday nights in Colmonell Village Hall from 6pm to 8pm, and for those who have progressed to the bagpipes Thursday nights 6pm to 8pm. Adults are also welcome to join the classes, if you would like to learn, contact Billy McCubbin on 01465 881293. (Picture on inside rear page)

Ballantrae Public Garden Redevelopment

Over the past year, members of the Ballantrae Development Group led by Colin McNally have been working to redevelop the upper level of the Public Garden in Main Street, Ballantrae. By removing the overgrown phormium bushes and clearing the site, the group have given back to the locals and visitors alike a place to stop, rest and enjoy the views across the sea to Corsewall Lighthouse and beyond to Northern Ireland.

The group have transformed the terrace to include accessibility for wheelchairs, construction of two large dry stone planters, a refurbished seat, a new fence and a hand painted sign by local signwriter Jamie Macdonald. The effort is the result of a range of sponsors, local tradesmen and, especially, volunteers who have made the project happen. Key sponsors of the project have been Travis Perkins of Stranraer who donated the slabs; Barr Ltd., Carrick Futures and Ballantrae Community Council who provided funding, Alex Mills for constructing the fence, CSV for funding the plants, Girvan Community Garden for facilitating and managing the construction of the dry stone dyke planters and South Ayrshire Council for a range of support including ground clearance. A thank you also to local tradesmen Billy Lyle and Dougie Brown who laid the slabs. (Pictures on inside rear page). The refurbished garden was officially opened by Councillor Helen Moonie, Provost of South Ayrshire, on May 6th.
